

Dr Fiona Fairbairn

Associate Lecturer and Researcher in Philanthropic Studies

Centre for Philanthropy, University of Kent

Fiona Fairbairn is an associate lecturer and researcher in the Centre for Philanthropy at the University of Kent. She has recently completed her PhD, 'Raising the Wealthy: Philanthropy, Children and the Intergenerational Transfer of Wealth' which examines the ways in which children engage with and participate in philanthropy at home and at school. Fiona has over fifteen years of working in and with the private, public and non-profit sectors, and is also a trustee of a grant giving charity specialising in children's causes.
