Director of Development and Alumni Relations

Solihull School

Lucy joined Solihull five years ago and is proud to lead our fundraising campaign for The Silhillian Fund for transformational bursaries. Solihull, founded in 1560, is an independent co-ed school with 1500 pupils aged 3-18.

She is relatively new to this role having spent 34 years as a producer for BBC Radio 4. It was comparatively easy to transfer the skills she had honed there to working in development and alumni relations. Making a documentary requires a great idea you passionately believe in, painstaking research, an engaging way of telling the story and an ability to persuade people to become part of something they may never have previously considered. Yet the good thing about development is you don't have to squeeze it into half hour segments and we're in it for the long game.
