

Caroline Monaghan

Radleian Society Manager

Radley College

Having spent over 20 years in the corporate world focussed on marketing IT to the education sector, Caroline then moved to Radley College to manage the Radleian Society, with the remit of driving greater engagement with the Radley Community of Old Radleians and parents.

Over the last five years, she has totally modernised the Society, moving it from an institution which mainly delivered events and publications for Old Radleians, to a Society with a far broader reach, focused on connecting and developing the whole Radley community for the benefit of all. This has led to a re-energised engagement strategy which blends a mix of social media platforms, publications and events to maximise all points of contact with the community.

She is now focusing on how to better leverage the Radley network for current boys and Old Radleians in their early careers, helping them to get an earlier insight into the 'world of work'.

