

Hannah Hamilton

Director of Development and External Relations

Stamford Endowed Schools

Hannah Hamilton started her career as a broadcast journalist, and spent six years in public relations consultancy, including crisis management for the NHS and the Care Commission, before specialising in marketing and communications in the education sector. As Director of Development and External Relations for the Stamford Endowed Schools, she champions a unified approach across marketing, admissions, fundraising and alumni relations.

