

Jane Wakefield

Head of Marketing and Communications

Bath Spa University

Jane is a marketing and communications professional with over 18 years' experience across public and private sectors. She has significant experience of strategic marketing, external and internal communications and engagement, crisis communications, PR and reputation management. She is currently Head of Marketing and Communications at Bath Spa University.

