

Kate Love

Director of Development

Felsted School

Kate began her career as a corporate PR consultant with a large international firm. She has since held senior development roles in both an Oxford and a Cambridge College - where was also a Fellow. She went on to be Director of Development at the Royal Agricultural University, before becoming Director of External Relations at Bath Spa University. She joined Felsted in September 2021 as the school's new Director of Development and Alumni Relations.

