

Siobhan Dunn

Former CEO

Teenage Cancer Trust

Siobhan Dunn worked in Finance before moving into the third sector becoming CEO of Teenage Cancer Trust, one of the UK's leading charities for young people. Passionate about making a difference she now works as a transformational leadership coach and consultant in the private, voluntary and public sectors. With a particular interest in helping women find their authentic leadership style, she is truly passionate about supporting all her clients in reaching their full potential.

Siobhan has become a very keen open water swimmer, which she began during lockdown. She is also a novice crocheter and the enthusiastic lead singer in a charity band!
