

Antony Berry

Director of Development

King's College School, Wimbledon

Antony joined King's in October 2022, he has pursued his passion of the non-profit sector, for over 15 years. As a fundraising professional, Antony has worked across a range of charitable sectors, with some of the world's most generous individuals, foundations, and corporations and has expertise in large-scale fundraising campaigns, social impact, and philanthropy. Across his varied career, Antony has helped raise significant funds towards the personalised medicine programme at Cancer Research UK; as part of the team who successfully raised over £100m towards plant conservation and biodiversity projects at the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew; and raised almost £40m towards building a new Museum of London at West Smithfield.

Combining theoretical knowledge and practical insights, Antony has recently been awarded a Distinction for his Masters in Philanthropic Studies at the University of Kent. His final dissertation critically assessed the role and impact of bursaries on addressing inequality in independent schools.

Outside of work, when Antony isn't on two wheels, he has three young boys who keep him busy, watching from the side-lines.
