

Catherine Mulgrew

Head of Development

The Glasgow Academy

Catherine Mulgrew serves as the Head of Development at The Glasgow Academy based in Glasgow, Scotland. Originally from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Catherine is a graduate of Germantown Friends School, a private Independent school in Philadelphia and Cornell University. Catherine most recently worked as Global Philanthropy Manager at the University of Glasgow, leading their international major and principal gift programme. Prior to that, she had her own fundraising consulting business and worked with clients such as Heriot-Watt University and St Columba's School.

She has over 20 years' experience in the field of development, with extensive knowledge of both the Independent School and High Education sectors both in the UK and USA. As lead fundraiser at The Glasgow Academy, Catherine works closely with former pupils, parents, and key stakeholders to strengthen their connections with the school and encourage their philanthropic investment for various school priorities.
