

Elizabeth Donnelly

Director of Development and Communications

Queen's College, London

Elizabeth graduated with a Bachelor of Science International Affairs from the Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, GA, her hometown. She went on to earn a Master of Education from Clemson University in South Carolina, USA. After working at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. in Alumni Relations & Development she moved to London with her family in 2015. She joined the London School of Economics major gifts team focusing on donors in Asia then the King's College London fundraising team.

Transitioning from a career in higher education development, she joined Queen's College, London in 2023 as Head of Development and became Director of Development & Communications in 2024. In Elizabeth's spare time she volunteers for various charities and non-profits to help reach their fundraising and engagement goals, including the Board of Trustees for the Georgia Tech Alumni Association.

#IDPEAnnualConference