Reigate Grammar School

I've worked in this marvellous industry for nearly ten years at Reigate Grammar School (of which I am also a former pupil) across multiple campaigns. We recently launched our new ten-year vision Changing Lives, Building Futures project; a £30m campaign that will continue to address social mobility, develop facilities at RGS all whilst working ever closer with our community and using the school as a force for good. Nothing pleases me more than working collaboratively with the team and our brilliant Reigatian community to make a positive impact.
