

John Moule

Warden

Radley College

John Moule took up the post of Warden of Radley College in September 2014, having been Head Master of Bedford School from 2008 to 2014. Before Bedford, he was Head of History and Senior Housemaster at Stowe. He would list his interests as avid sports spectating (armchair and otherwise); boring people with cricket statistics; reading: theology, political biography and P.G. Wodehouse; directing plays; and playing golf badly. He is a Governor of three schools, including Broadway Academy in Perry Bar Birmingham. In his time as Warden, Radley provision of funded places has tripled and there is a clear strategic ambition for that growth to continue over the next ten years.
