

Susan Beck

Director of Development and Communications

Royal Grammar School, Newcastle

Susan Beck has been a professional fundraiser for 23 years, the majority of which spent in mainstream fundraising charities, the past three in the Independent Schools' sector. Susan has held Director roles at Ambitious about Autism, The Willow Foundation, The MS Society and RNIB, as well as leading or advising on major campaigns at a range of health, education and international development charities. For six years Susan was Director of Solid Management, a leading major gift fundraising consultancy. Passionate about major gift fundraising, Susan has personally secured six and seven figure donations, led major corporate partnerships and extensive major events programmes. She is proud to be leading marketing, communications, alumni engagement, and fundraising activity, in order to provide more transformational bursaries and partnerships at RGS Newcastle, the North East's Sunday Times' Independent School of the Decade 2021.
