

Robin Macpherson

Head of College

Robert Gordon's College

Robin Macpherson is a headteacher and works at Robert Gordon's College, a 3-18 school in Aberdeen. As a history teacher and school leader for over two decades, he has worked in Scotland, England and the Middle East. He has been an examiner for the SQA, the IBO and Edexcel (Pearson). He is an internationally published author, and frequently writes in the national and education press. He is involved in events management as both a content curator and speaker. He is the organiser of researchED Scotland, and previously worked as content director for the Festival of Education, EduMod at the Fringe, and the New York Times Climate Hub at COP26. He is a fellow of the RSA, and a board member of the charity Remembering Srebrenica Scotland.